Osage Ventures Completes Series A Preferred Investment In SevOne

Performance Management Software Company to Use Funding to Continue Expansion

BALA CYNWYD, PA – September 4, 2007 – Osage Ventures announced today that it has led a Series A Preferred investment of $1.5 million in SevOne, Inc. Osage is the sole institutional investor. Already profitable, SevOne plans to use the proceeds to expand sales and marketing and overall operations.

SevOne provides application and network performance management software delivered as an integrated appliance to its already growing list of thirty customers. Their performance transparency suite of products provides, in real-time, statistics critical to an enterprise's IT infrastructure success. The Company's headquarters are in Newark, DE.

"The value proposition of SevOne is quite clear. Nothing in the marketplace can manage and monitor performance statistics of an enterprise in real time at an affordable price like they can," stated Darren C. Wallis, Managing Partner at Osage Ventures. "This is critical for markets such as healthcare, financial services, and communications, all areas where SevOne has blue-chip customers."

Michael Phelan, President of SevOne, remarked, "We are excited to have Osage as a valuable partner and look forward to their guidance as we continue to expand our customer base and grow our product line. Our advanced architecture represents a dramatic leap in network and application performance management. Imagine if your body only monitored itself every minute or if it only monitored major organs. Likewise, every element and every application in a healthy IT

About SevOne

SevOne provides comprehensive Application and Network Performance Management software delivered as an affordable, integrated appliance. Managing today’s demanding enterprise requires Performance Transparency[™]. Management needs proof of what is happening now, but also must see what has occurred historically to verify Application and Network Performance, validate Service Level Agreements, and manage costs. Until now, performance management has been very expensive, complex, and difficult to support. A truly effective and comprehensive performance solution before SevOne was impractical.
